IPBIM
INSTITUTE OF PRODUCTIVITY AND BUSINESS
INNOVATION MANAGEMENT

About the Management of Productivity Programme

The Institute of Productivity and Business Innovation Management (IPBIM) Africa, in partnership with the Institute of Productivity (UK) has worked with NOCN, a leading UK Awarding Organisation, to develop a practical, modular suite of qualifications for business careers, graduates and undergraduates alike to learn how to continuously and sustainably improve productivity, performance and competitiveness in their field of endeavours.

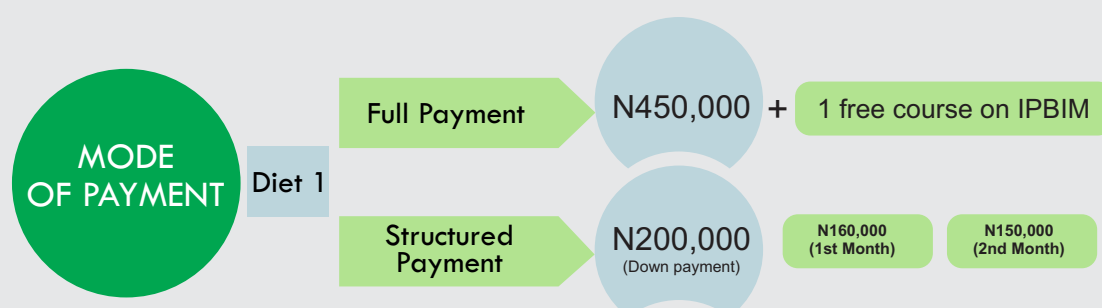

For the award of a Diploma in Management of Productivity, delegates can take the entire ten courses as Diploma or break it in two parts. The first diet is Certificate and the completion of the first and second diet will earn you a Diploma! The program is accredited by NOCN and certified by the UK Government's Office of Qualification and Examinations Regulation (Ofqual).

Who will benefit

This qualification is design for Managers, practitioners, supervisors, Human Resources managers, aspiring managers, and students in final year, graduates, SME and those who are building a business enterprise to gain knowledge and improve productivity. The qualifications are relevant to all business sectors, developing the necessary knowledge and skill to sustain productivity at all levels.

IPBIM
INNOVATION MANAGEMENT

The Institute of Productivity and Business Innovation Management (IPBIM) was registered in 2016. IPBIM is operating with the approval of the Federal Ministry of Education, Nigeria. The journey began in 2007 with the School of Productivity Nigeria, which was born out of the need to raise a productive workforce.

IPBIM is a non-profit, globally focused African institution of productivity and innovation learning. Our world-class learning models and globally distinguished faculty will constantly enable us to raise futurists and disruptors whom we regard as productive thinkers and innovators. IPBIM is headquartered in Lagos. However, our impact is felt globally; particularly in Africa.

NOCN is a major Awarding Organisation in the UK, registered to award qualifications up to and including Level 7 (post-graduate).

NOCN works with a range of academic and industry partners to provide quality-assured, credit-based qualifications that meet the needs of specific industry sectors and professional groups.

This suite of qualifications has been developed in partnership by the Institute of Productivity in the UK and NOCN. NOCN also signed a partnership with Institute of Productivity and Business Innovation management (IPBIM) to deploy the course around Africa continent.
